Bucket list trip highlighted by multiple journeys

Alaska's unrivaled allure radiates on land and sea

SURF AND TURF is synonymous with extravagant dining. It's succulent seafood combined with a tender filet served in a setting meant for royalty. It's a meal as memorable as it is delicious.

Now imagine that same scenario – but this time, it pertains to your next vacation. It's a trip that combines land and sea to create the ultimate travel experience. Wanderlust satisfied from all directions – whether it's on terra firma or blue waters.

Or in this case, both.

AAA is offering five packages that combine land and cruise tours of Alaska – aka The Last Frontier, Land of the Midnight Sun or The Great Land. It's a territory blessed with more nicknames than a famous celebrity. The trips range from 11 to 13 nights, with seven of those nights spent on Royal Caribbean's Radiance of the Seas.

The cost (per person double occupancy) of the trips varies. Grand Mountain Marvels (June 1-14) is $3,369. Mountain Panorama Adventure (June 14-26) is $2,990. Alaska Wilderness Spectacular (July 13-26) is $3,260. Grand Mountain Marvels (August 9-22) is $3,059. And Alaska Wilderness Spectacular (August 23-September 5) is $2,970. Flights are not included. You can speak with a AAA Travel Advisor for pricing on flights.

Alaska ranks high on bucket lists among U.S. destinations. Its natural beauty creates a work of art from all directions. Snowcapped mountains rise from the landscapes. Varieties of wildlife roam unsettled lands dotted with lakes, streams and lush forests.

Image: Royal Caribbean

Fjords, glaciers and unique villages comprise locations that only can be explained by personal experiences. Your legs may move you, but your eyes will guide you to witness some of the most beautiful sights worldwide.

"To the lover of wilderness, Alaska is one of the most wonderful countries in the world," once said renowned naturalist John Muir.

Alaska is a place of wonder. Our country's largest state has fewer than 700,000 citizens, making such a massive land seem intimately storytelling. A day in the wilderness provides a lifetime of satisfaction. And a lifetime of satisfaction delivers a day you'll never forget.

Visit a host of Alaska's hotspots via glass-domed Wilderness Express, riverboat, motor coach or just by taking a stroll. Hike rare terrains, raft down rough rivers or kayak in calmer waters.

Travel into the unspoiled wilderness of Denali National Park and Preserve. Keep alert for wildlife

REAL ID Extended to May 7, 2025

The Department of Homeland Security extended the REAL ID deadline to May 7, 2025. The REAL ID Act established minimum security standards for state-issued driver's licenses and identification cards and prohibits Federal agencies from accepting for official purposes licenses and identification cards from states that do not meet these standards. Beginning May 7, 2025, every state and territory resident will need to present a REAL ID compliant license/ID, or another acceptable form of ID for boarding commercial aircraft, accessing Federal facilities and entering nuclear plants. The Transportation Security Administration (TSA) considers a current passport or military ID acceptable identification for boarding an aircraft. For more information on Ohio's REAL ID compliant license, visit bmvo.ohio.gov.

Porch pirates primed to take packages

Steps to protect you from thieves lurking neighborhoods

By Robin Jones

Cyber Monday kicks off the busy season for more than just online retailers and delivery services. It also opens high season for porch pirates.

Of course, thieves who steal packages from homes operate year-round, but they're particularly active during the holidays. If you order gifts online, you risk becoming one of their victims. But there are ways to protect your purchases, including:

Have your packages delivered to a secure location – Many retailers allow you to opt for in-store pickup when you order online. You also can have packages sent to a UPS store or U.S. Postal Service (USPS) office, designated brick-and-mortar retailers, or to an Amazon Locker facility. Your apartment complex's leasing office also might accept packages.

Sign up for delivery alerts – Some retailers will send you an email or text when your package is dropped off, and most delivery services have apps that allow you to track packages. That way, you can make sure you are home to receive the package or you can ask a neighbor to collect it for you.

Install a security camera – A front-door camera alone might discourage package pirates. Even if it doesn't, it will record the theft and give you evidence to bolster any claim you make.

Place a lockbox at your doorstep – This large container can be bolted to your property. After placing a package inside, a delivery person can secure it with a combination lock. If a package is stolen, you have a few avenues for resolution, including:

Contact the retailer who sold you the item – Many sellers will provide a replacement or refund if you call customer service and explain what

File a claim with the delivery service – If the retailer doesn't respond or attempt to resolve the issue, you can reach out to the outfit that delivered the package. FedEx, UPS, DHL and the USPS allow you to submit a claim for lost, damaged or delayed packages.

Call your credit card company – Most credit cards provide purchase protection, which reimburses you for items that are damaged or stolen, as long as you paid for the item entirely on the card and file the claim within a certain number of days of the purchase. Some high-value items aren't covered, though, and some credit card companies require you to file a police report or insurance claim first.

Talk to your insurance agent – A package stolen from your porch was on your property, so it is covered by your homeowners or rental insurance. However, your deductible applies if you file a claim, as do any limits on certain items.

Tragedies up importance of Move Over law

Not taking precaution leading to deaths of emergency responders

Slow down! And move over! It's a simple request, one that drivers should have no trouble following, particularly as the holiday season approaches. Too often, it's ignored, especially when it comes to roadside-assistance workers.

An average of 24 emergency responders, including tow providers, are struck and killed by vehicles while working at the roadside each year – meaning someone is killed, on average, every other week.

In 2019, 44 emergency responders in the U.S. – including 14 tow-truck drivers – died after being hit as they were working by the roadside.

Startling data from the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety finds that among drivers who do not comply with Move Over laws, 42% thought this behavior was somewhat or not dangerous to emergency-roadside workers. This demonstrates that drivers may not realize how risky it is for those working or stranded along highways near moving traffic.

To protect these individuals, AAA and other traffic-safety advocates worked tirelessly to get Move Over laws passed in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Yet, the AAA Foundation finds that nearly a quarter of those surveyed (23%) are unaware of the Move Over law in the state in which they live.

Meanwhile, among those who are aware of their state's Move Over laws, 15% report not understanding the potential consequences for violating the law.

TAKE CAUTION – A tow truck driver loads a disabled vehicle. Drivers approaching emergency-roadside workers should use caution and respect their state's Move Over law. Image: Adobe Stock.

The cost of fines varies from state to state, but they can be expensive. Penalty points could be added, as well as a misdemeanor charge for failure to move over or slow down when approaching an emergency vehicle, tow truck, utility vehicle or road-maintenance vehicle with flashing lights on the side of the road.

These tragic accidents extend beyond tow providers and emergency responders. More than 1,600 people have been struck and killed while outside a disabled vehicle since 2015.

Drivers are increasingly distracted while driving. Previous AAA Foundation research found that motorists are as much as four times as likely to crash if they are talking on a cell phone while driving and eight times as likely to be in a crash if texting.

AAA clubs have participated in educational initiatives regarding Move Over laws by creating public-service announcements and contacting state officials. AAA is committed to raising awareness of Move Over laws and the dangers associated with working at the roadside.

These laws require drivers to move over one lane or slow down when approaching an incident where tow providers, police, firefighters or emergency-medical-service crews are working at the roadside. Many states also have expanded their laws to cover vehicles like utility and municipal fleets, as well as disabled vehicles.

To protect roadside workers, drivers with disabled vehicles and others, AAA offers these precautionary tips:

- Remain alert, avoid distractions and focus on the task of driving.
- Keep an eye out for situations where emergency vehicles, tow trucks, utility-service vehicles or disabled vehicles are stopped on the side of the road.
- When you see these situations, slow down and, if possible, move over one lane and away from the people and vehicles stopped on the side of the road.

Slow down! And move over! It could save a life.

Tips From a AAA Travel Advisor: Autumn Long

Costa Rica stands out among destinations

Resorts, beaches, sights make Caribbean location a winner

After working for US Airways, TSA and Southwest, I was looking for a career change after the pandemic. Travel is my passion, so I accepted a position as a AAA Travel Advisor. What is my favorite destination? The three I's: Ireland, Ireland, Ireland.

AAA Travel Advisor:
Autumn Long

But the most popular vacations I book daily are trips to warm destinations like Mexico, the Caribbean and Costa Rica! This September, I was happy to return to Costa Rica with a coach full of travel professionals to do hotel site inspections. Seeing so many properties first-hand provided invaluable insights when recommending properties to our members.

We flew into Liberia airport and stayed at the Secrets Papagayo Resort – a stunning all-inclusive property with lush gardens on the gulf. The resort is large and hilly with a black-sand beach. It's a great getaway for clients who want an adults-only resort. It's a large spread-out property, not suitable if you have mobility issues. We also toured the nearby

BEACH BUM – Palm trees, nicely manicured landscaping and a pristine beach hug the blue waters of the Caribbean Sea in Costa Rica. Image: Autumn Long. AAA Planet Hollywood, which is an all-ages getaway with a party atmosphere.

Farther north, we toured Dreams Las Mareas in popular Guanacaste near the tropical rainforest. Dreams caters to couples and families. Rooms are decorated with natural-wood tones to complement the natural landscape. It was easy to get around and the property had a white-sand beach. My favorite resort experience was watching the loveable monkeys swinging high in the Guanacaste trees. Nearby activities included whitewater rafting and hiking in the rainforest.

Also in Guanacaste is the Westin Reserve Conchal, a golf and tennis resort with a lagoon-style pool. It's a quieter resort and it provides golf carts. The only downside to me was the vendors on the beach, but the shoppers liked it! Next door is the upscale W Hotel Reserva Conchal, with its unique rooms, including the stunning Sunset Treehouse Room, with views of the mangrove forest from your private balcony!

What was my favorite and most unexpected experience? Tamarindo. We toured the Tamarindo Diria – one of the most iconic beach resorts. This charming resort is on Costa Rica's most famous beach, so you can enjoy 1.8 miles of white sand just a few steps from your room.

My choice for romance, celebrations and honeymoons is the Casa Chameleon at Las Catalinas. The rooms are spacious with plunge pools and the food is out of this world. They also have a wine cellar.

We toured the Mistico Hanging Bridges and did a Jungle cruise, but my sightseeing highlight was seeing Arenal Volcano and the Hot Springs. Arenal Springs Resort and Spa is an active resort with an animal sanctuary, rock-climbing wall, and river for rafting and tubing, along with the hot springs. My overall favorite hot-spring experience was at the Tabacon Thermal Resort and Spa. The hotel was separate from the spring down the road. The property was huge with dozens of pools.

My tips for your trip are to bring B.D.P – Bug Spray, Dramamine and Patience. The road infrastructure is winding and some are gravel and rough. It takes longer than expected to get where you are going. And do a guided tour, so your guide can navigate the roads and point out the animals along the way!

Experience It! Monteverde Cloud Forest

Only four places in the world boast an ecosystem so unique that it produces a cloud forest, and Costa Rica is one of them. Situated high on a mountain, the Monteverde Cloud Forest is created by the forest's dry air combining with the humid, hot air of the rainforest. The result is a blanket of clouds that covers the forest, mimicking constant rainfall. This extremely wet environment has bred a diverse world of exotic flora and fauna. One of the cloud forest's golden beak and a green-hooded head, tail feathers of gray, black, and white, and a vibrant scarlet breast. Highly elusive, quetzal sightings are rare, but absolutely unforgettable when attained.

Winter chill can put battery in a bind

AAA replacements reliable, ease your concerns

It shouldn't be assumed the 2023-24 winter season will be similar to last season's. It's likely snow and colder temperatures could be on the horizon. Frigid wind-chills and icy conditions add to the wear and tear on vehicles, particularly batteries.

It's an ideal time to have your car's battery tested to be assured it's ready for the upcoming winter season. Batteries are delicate and could lose charge with the first wave of chilly conditions. Cold and damp weather can take a toll on an electrical system overburdened by defrosts, windshield wipers and lights. It's never too early to be prepared.

Lead-acid batteries' lifespans depend on a variety of factors, but only 30% of new ones will last three years. Batteries must work under temperature extremes and withstand constant shocks and vibrations.

It might seem as if batteries that are used less often should have better lifespans, but that isn't always the case. Batteries could drain more quickly if the car is driven 20 minutes or fewer, causing the battery never to fully charge. Batteries that are deeply discharged or rest idly for long periods of time are more vulnerable to sulfation, a buildup of lead-sulphate crystals, the primary cause of premature-battery failure.

New cars require a steady flow of electricity to control multiple onboard computers and powertrain features, such as stop-start technology, heated seats, wireless hotspots and video displays that keep the vehicle running smoothly. Reduced hours of daylight result in more use of headlights and heating – all of which take tolls on the battery's power reserve.

The battery should be replaced to help prevent a future roadside emergency if you notice a dimming of interior lights or a clicking noise when turning over the transmission. Have a trained technician clean the battery cables and check that the electrical system is charging correctly.

AAA Battery Service offers fast, accurate and convenient mobile-battery testing and replacement. State-of-the-art diagnostic equipment will confirm whether the battery will hold a charge, or if the problem lies deeper in the electrical system.

This service is included in your AAA membership. If necessary, and with your approval, a new, high-quality AAA battery will be installed immediately and onsite.

AAA Battery Service vehicles carry batteries compatible with 90% of all cars, SUVs and light trucks. And each AAA-branded battery is covered by an unprecedented nationwide 36-month, free-replacement warranty.

Our Instant Quote battery-price calculator on AAA.com will provide you member and nonmember pricing for your vehicle's battery, reflecting your exclusive AAA discount. Every battery AAA replaces – more than 2 million since 2021 – is safely recycled to protect the environment.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

If your battery is failing you, give yourself the added peace of mind by calling the AAA Battery Service for a no-cost evaluation. AAA Battery Service is available from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. 7-days a week. To verify AAA Battery Service availability in your area, call our toll-free number: 1-800-222-4357.

AAA to provide roadside services through Apple Members can receive assistance via satellite on iPhone 15, 14

Users of the newly announced Apple iPhone 15 and iPhone 14 now can get access to Roadside Assistance via satellite by utilizing AAA services.

AAA is one of North America's largest and most-trusted membership organizations. It responds to more than 30 million calls for roadside assistance annually and serves more than 63 million members. By working with Apple, AAA will be able to reach people who may otherwise be unable to receive help.

"Safety is at the core of who AAA is as an organization, and we're taking that commitment to the next level by offering AAA services to iPhone users who would have previously been unreachable," said Marshall Doney, president and CEO, AAA. "Now, thanks to iPhone's satellite capabilities, iPhone users with Roadside Assistance via satellite can get help when they need it most but can't reach us via traditional connections."

iPhone users who request roadside assistance can be connected via satellite with AAA after answering a few questions to capture important details. Users will receive clear guidance on how to stay connected to a satellite. It will allow them to message with a AAA agent and receive important information about the status of their request.

APPLE SKY – AAA Members soon will have access to roadside assistance via satellite through iPhone 15 and iPhone 14 phones. This will better assist members broken down in areas that don't have connectivity. Image: Joshua Resnick. Adobe Stock.

"We know firsthand how stressful it is to be stranded with a breakdown, especially if you find yourself in a remote location or without cell service," said Doney. "Your options are limited – walk to a service point or area with cellular connectivity or Wi-Fi, which can be miles away, or attempt to flag another motorist down. Apple's satellite infrastructure is an innovative solution that is already providing critical emergency support to iPhone users, and AAA is proud to offer Roadside Assistance via satellite in partnership with Apple."

"Safety is at the core of who AAA is as an organization, and we're taking that commitment to the next level by offering AAA services to iPhone users who would have previously been unreachable. Now, thanks to iPhone's satellite capabilities, iPhone users with Roadside Assistance via satellite can get help when they need it most but can't reach us via traditional connections."

Marshall Doney,
AAA president and CEO

Roadside Assistance via satellite will be available on all iPhone 15 and iPhone 14 users in the U.S., regardless of whether they are a AAA Member. Once the questionnaire is received, AAA Members will be verified and service will be provided. Nonmembers will be responsible for payment upon completion of the service.

Roadside Assistance via satellite is built on the groundbreaking technology that powers Emergency SOS by satellite, launched by Apple in 2022. It allows iPhone 14 and iPhone 15 users to access emergency services via satellite when cellular coverage or Wi-Fi is unavailable.

Fiji a ticket to paradise in South Pacific

Island chain is teeming with beauty and adventure

On a map, Fiji has the appearance of tiny droplets of land scattered in the South Pacific. Tiny jewels scatter some 1,300 miles from New Zealand to create a paradise travelers yearn to visit.

More than 300 islands – 106 are inhabited – comprise a country formed by volcanic activity around 150 million years ago. Beauty sprang from explosions and Fiji hasn't looked back since.

This sparse nation attracts nearly 700,000 guests annually. They come to celebrate their honeymoons, take a bucket list vacation, surf, seek adventure and appreciate the archipelago's toasty waves and coral reef.

Fiji affords you the delectable feeling of seclusion, keeping you as far away from reality as possible. Fiji Bitter beer whets your palate while watching the sun dip below the horizon. Birds chirp under a blanket of blue skies, dotted by pillowy clouds. The scent of saltwater wafts from the ocean. The experience leaves you awestruck.

Fiji lures visitors with its aquamarine waters and soft, warm sands that are found outside the doors of its myriad of resorts. Snorkel with manta rays in the Yasawas – a chain of 20 islands blessed with sparkling blue lagoons. Scuba dive near Taveuni – Fiji's third-largest island and home of the world renowned TROPICAL BLISS – A colorful sunrise awakens a new day on Fiji Island.

Rainbow Reef. Party in the Mamanuca Islands that boast secluded resorts and served as the setting for Tom Hanks' film "Castaway". And don't forget about the surfing.

Fiji is an indelible destination that flaunts beauty in many ways. The depth of its character has no boundary.

The Garden of the Sleeping Giant steals your attention away from the beach. Located in the foothills of Nausori Highlands, it's known for its vibrant collection of orchids once part of a private collection owned by TV actor Raymond Burr. Take a "jungle walk" past a lily pond and through a native forest. It's gorgeous, peaceful and a popular place to have a wedding ceremony.

Coral Coast is centrally located on the southwest side of Viti Levu and is populated by resorts and hotels. Pearly white sands nibble against crystal-clear waters to create a perfect setting.

Visit the Sri Siva Subramaniya Temple – the largest Hindu temple in the Pacific. Masterful Dravidian architecture and lively colors bring the temple to life. Remove your shoes upon entering and witness sacred statues and inspiring surroundings.

Vilavilavevo is Fijian for "jumping in the oven" and describes the practice of firewalking, a local practice that originated with a man named Tunaivqalita of Beqa Island, who convinced a spirit god to allow him to have the ability to walk over scalding stones. Who can doubt it? Firewalking ceremonies take place at resorts throughout Fiji.

Port Denarau has a marina, shopping district, restaurants and a golf course. The Fiji Museum is filled with artifacts that span 3,700 years. Hop in a mud pool to absorb its healing properties – according to locals. Or zipline, hike, splash down water slides or admire the animals at Kula Wild Adventure Park in Sigatoka.

Fiji might seem like a world away, but it's a worldly experience you won't soon forget.

Honing teen driving habits a challenge

Monitoring, spotting reckless patterns lessen odds of crash

Parental anxiety escalates when their teenage children begin driving. It's a natural and expected reaction.

Operating a motor vehicle could be considered a child's first responsibility that puts the lives of others at risk. Taking a defensive approach behind the wheel rarely is more important.

The steps are simple: Buckle seatbelts, put away smartphones, honor the speed limit and reduce distractions. It's a map to a safe-driving experience.

Teenagers should be scrutinized. Their limited understanding of vehicles and the roads on which they are traveling could put them in precarious situations. Traffic serves as an added burden. Congested highways escalate the need for younger drivers to remain on the defensive.

This puts an added onus on parents to learn if their teenagers are prepared drivers. The more parents discover about their kids' habits, the less likely they are to suffer collisions.

Parents shouldn't ignore their kids' driving habits. Riding with them provides an opportunity to observe their patterns. Are they accelerating through yellow lights, not using turn signals, failing to check blind spots, improperly merging into lanes or getting upset at other drivers? These are easily recognizable, but it's only the beginning.

WHAT'S GOING ON – Teenage drivers not paying attention behind the wheel could cause an accident or lead to aggression. Image: pololia. Adobe Stock.

Young drivers rarely should be traveling with a group of passengers. Traveling with friends encourages teens to take more risks. Peer pressure might force them to drive faster than the speed limit or maneuver illegally on the roadways. Motorists, ages 16 to 17, increase their odds of being killed in an accident by 44% when traveling with an additional young passenger. That risk doubles with two passengers, and quadruples if three or more passengers are in the vehicle.

Technology makes cars more fun to drive, but at the expense of drivers losing their focus. Drivers too often make phone calls, answer texts in moving vehicles or check social-media sites. More than one-third of teens admit they respond to text messages while driving, and more than half answer phone calls.

Cars overflowing with fast-food wrappers is another sign. The drivers likely are eating while driving and paying lesser attention to the road.

Teen drivers breaking curfew restrictions is a red flag. Some states enforce laws that forbid drivers 18 and younger from operating cars between 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. Those pushing curfew could be more likely to break speed limits and run stop lights to make it home in time.

It is essential drivers hear what is happening around them as well as see it. Teens blasting loud music diminish their ability to hear audible cues from other drivers, particularly a horn or another vehicle accelerating nearby.

Car accidents are a leading cause of death for teenagers. It's impossible for parents to continuously monitor their children's driving habits but identifying aggressive patterns should lessen the odds of an accident occurring.
